If you've recently received tenure, you may be wondering "what happens next?" Designed for mid-career faculty building and thinking about their career trajectory, Part 2 of this two-part series will discuss shifts in roles, responsibilities and expectations of tenured faculty, as well as leveraging professional development and leadership opportunities. We can also discuss any questions left over from Part 1's presentation of UC San Diego policies on promotion and advancement, and available resources for retentions, accelerations and career equity review.
